Saudi ADF units man strategic points in Beirut

BEIRUT, Oct. 20 (Agencies) — Syrian tanks trailing rocket launchers rumbled out of fortified positions in east Beirut Friday, lifting a three-week siege of the city's shell-scarred Christian districts.

War-weary civilians began to pick up the threads of normal life as Saudi peace-keeping troops and Lebanese security forces took up positions at strategic points.

The moves marked the first stage of a plan to prevent renewed fighting between right-wing militias and Syrian troops who dominate a 30,000-strong Arab League Deterrent Force (ADF) in Lebanon.

They were approved by an emergency conference of Arab foreign ministers who gave Lebanese President Elias Sarkis another opportunity to resolve the country's prolonged crisis.

Saudi Ambassador to Lebanon Sheikh Ali Shaer said the Saudi military deployment was intended to help the president and was in response to the request of the ADF commander Col. Sami Khalil.

The ambassador made his statement following a meeting with Sarkis attended by Minister of Foreign Affairs and Defense Fuad Butros.

The redeployment began at dawn when the Syrians withdrew from the bridges carrying the main access roads from the north and east.

White-helmeted Saudi troops replaced the deterrent force on one of the bridges, while Lebanese paramilitary police set up control points on the other.

Within a few hours, the area was jammed with traffic as residents left to rejoin relatives and friends in the surrounding mountains while others returned to find their homes in ruins.

The right-wing Phalangist radio reported that a rocket-propelled grenade was fired half an hour before the operation began, but there were no major violations of the two-week-old ceasefire.

The radio said Saudi troops were also replacing Syrians in the Rizk Tower, the highest building in Beirut, which had been used to devastate surrounding areas with rocket fire.

Security sources said the Saudis would take over the upper floors of the building, but Syrian units would remain on the lower levels.

The withdrawal was clearly a limited operation, and Western military sources said the Syrians could quickly regain control of the strategic positions if heavy fighting erupted again.

The militiamen did not hinder the peace moves, and many were out in the rubble-strewn streets helping direct traffic towards the bridges.

Officials said President Sarkis will hold an important cabinet meeting Saturday to resume the difficult task of resolving chronic political problems which have threatened to engulf Lebanon in another civil war.

Sarkis will have to gain the support of rival political leaders who have given no practical demonstrations so far of their declared willingness to work together for lasting peace.

The president announced plans on Oct. 2 to replace his TAIF, Oct. 20 (SPA) — Crown Prince Fahd returned here Thursday from a tour of the Baha region.

Royal Family, cabinet ministers, senior officials and high-ranking officers.

On his departure from Baha, he was seen off by the Governor Sheikh Ibrahim Al-Aziz Aziz Ibrahim, Governor of Beljashi Sheikh Abdullah Mazroui and other officials.

Sheikh Ibrahim said that the prince had ordered resurfacing of the road from Al-Aqiq to the airport and Al-Aqiq Airport renovated.

The prince also ordered the construction of a 350-bed hospital in Al-Baha.

In a message to Sheikh Ibrahim at the end of his tour, Prince Fahd thanked the citizens of the area for their warm welcome and hospitality.

Soviet Union lauds Algeria, attacks Camp David accords

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (R) — The Soviet Union has commended Algeria's policy on the Middle East while condemning again the Camp David accord between Israel and Egypt for peace in the region.

The Soviet Union "highly valued the important role of the Algerian People's Democratic Republic in the struggle for strengthening the unity of actions of the Arab world's progressive forces on an anti-imperialist basis," a communique on Algerian President Houari Boumedienne's visit to Moscow said Thursday night.

The communique, carried by the official Tass news agency, said talks between Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, Soviet Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin and the Algerian leader had centered on the situation in the Middle East.

Both sides condemned the Camp David peace accords as "a collusion behind the back of the Arab peoples running counter to their interests," it said.

They thought the agreement would lead only to new complications in the Middle East situation, the communique added.

Boumedienne, who conferred with Soviet leaders on Tuesday, accepted an invitation to stay in the Soviet Union "for several days," according to the communique.

Last week some Arab and Western newspapers speculated there could have been an attempt to oust Boumedienne from power because he had not been seen in Algiers for some three weeks. The speculation was angrily denounced by Algeria.

For the second time this month the Soviet Union declared its support for the anti-Egyptian Arab "front for steadfastness and confrontation" of which Algeria is a member with Syria, South Yemen, Libya and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

Earlier, Syrian President Hafez Assad briefed Brezhnev on the results of the front's Damascus summit which included a resolution to strengthen relations with Moscow.

The communique stressed the two countries' joint opposition to the Israeli-Egyptian peace accords, but made no mention of the Geneva Middle East conference over which they are divided.

The Russians maintain their long standing commitment to the conference while Algeria has expressed reservations about any negotiation with Israel.

2,000 refugees flee Aden clashes to Sanaa

SANAA, Oct. 20 (Agencies) — Two thousand refugees fled South Yemen to North Yemen because of serious fighting that has recently broken out between the armed forces and the ruling party's militias, according to Sanaa Radio.

The refugees crossed the borders during the last few days and reported large scale clashes, although there was no indication of the exact locations of the fighting.

The armed forces, already decimated by large scale defections in battalion strength, have resisted attempts by the ruling party to disband them following the execution of former South Yemeni President Salem Rubaya Ali last June in a bloody conflict that left several thousand people dead. The armed forces were considered by the party to be too loyal to the slain president. Since then, according to North Yemeni sources, several thousand troops crossed the border from South Yemen with their arms, including heavy weapons. The North Yemeni Interior Minister Mohsen Al-Yusufi told pressmen recently that "a number of brigades of South Yemen's armed forces have sought refuge in the North."

Late last week 74 officers and their families crossed the border seeking asylum in Oman. They told reporters of armed clashes in South Yemen and increasing Soviet control of affairs in that country.

After snags

U.S. tables revised draft of peace treaty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (Agencies) — The United States has submitted a revised draft of a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel, the spokesman for talks between the two countries said Friday.

Dr. Osama Baz, under-secretary at the Egyptian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, flew to London Thursday night for consultations on the plan with Egyptian Vice-President Hosni Mubarak, now on a tour of European capitals, spokesman George Sherman said.

Vice-President Mubarak would be returning to Cairo to pass Baz's report to President Anwar Sadat, the spokesman added.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan told Israeli television Friday night that he and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman would also fly home from Washington, on Monday.

Dayan said he and Weizman, Israel's top negotiators in the talks, were returning for consultations with other members of Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government.

The foreign minister said he would spend two or three days in Israel but would then return to Washington to continue the talks with the Egyptians.

On Thursday, informed sources said the Egyptian negotiators here have received orders to pack their bags and return home if Israel refuses to agree to link the West Bank question with the peace treaty.

The Egyptian delegation to the peace talks is insisting on progress on "the two fronts" Egypt's treaty with Israel and the Palestinian problem—in the context of the Camp David accords, the sources said.

The American delegation agrees with this position, and is continuing to support it vigorously in the negotiating sessions, they said.

If Israel refuses to give in on the linkage question, the Egyptian delegates will walk out of the conference, the sources said.

The Egyptians will continue to insist on linkage of the treaty to progress on the Palestinian question even if Egypt and Israel reach full agreement on the Sinai, they added.

The new American document was presented to the Egyptian and Israeli delegations meeting here after President Carter personally intervened Thursday in an attempt to resolve problems in the week-long negotiations, the spokesman said.

Sherman said in a statement: "As a result of negotiations over the past few days and following the working luncheon yesterday the president had with the leaders of the delegations, the United States has now put forward a revised negotiating draft of the main articles of a treaty for the consideration of the parties."

There were no formal meetings Friday between the Egyptians, headed by Defense Minister Hassan Kamal Ali, and the Israelis, under Dayan. The spokesman said the delegations were expected to continue consultations among themselves and there might also be bilateral meetings later in the day.

He added: "I imagine the parties will also be consulting carefully with their governments about the current state of the negotiations."

The spokesman said there had been a good deal of agreement in the talks at Blair House, the presidential guest quarters across the street from the White House.

There was also some disagreement, he said, adding: "Over the past few days, negotiations have continued to try to resolve those differences."

Saunders briefs Begin on talks with Saudi, Jordanian leaders

TEL AVIV, Oct. 20 (Agencies) — U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders briefed Israeli Premier Menachem Begin for two hours Friday on his talks with King Hussein and Saudi leaders.

Afterward he told reporters Begin had given his reaction to U.S. answers to questions posed by King Hussein concerning the agreements.

The U.S. envoy said the king was not yet prepared to join the peacemaking process and had asked for more time to make his decision.

"He (King Hussein) is not yet ready to make that decision... He is deeply committed to the process of making peace. He does have a very complicated political situation within which he must work in the Arab world, so he has asked for more time..." Saunders said.

Before leaving Amman, Saunders said he and King Hussein agreed to "continue the dialogue" but he reported no progress in efforts to persuade the monarch to join the current Egyptian-Israeli negotiations.

Official sources said Saunders briefed the Jordanian monarch on his talks with Saudi officials and reviewed U.S. efforts to achieve peace in the area.

The two sides continued discussions on the U.S. reply to Jordan's questions on the Camp David agreements.

The sources said the two sides agreed to continue contacts on international efforts to establish a just and lasting peace in the area.

Wednesday evening, Saunders discussed with Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud Al-Faisal the American reply to King Hussein's queries on the Camp David Accords.

33 states seeking arms ban on Israel

UNITED NATIONS, Oct. 20 (R) — A resolution calling on the Security Council to impose a mandatory arms embargo on Israel has been circulated in the General Assembly's main political committee by a group of 33 Arab and other Third World countries.

The resolution Thursday expressed grave concern over "the continued and rapid Israeli military build-up."

It also referred to "the increasing evidence regarding Israeli attempts to acquire nuclear weapons" and "the use by Israel of cluster bombs against refugee camps and civilian targets in southern Lebanon."

The draft would request the Security Council to call on all states to "refrain from any supply of arms, ammunition, military equipment or vehicles or spare parts thereof, to Israel, without exception."

The Council would also be requested to call on all states to end "all transfer of nuclear equipment or fissionable material or technology to Israel."

Khomeini urges 'popular revolt' against Shah

PARIS, Oct. 20 (AP) — The Ayatollah Khomeini, exiled religious leader regarded as instigator of the anti-government disturbances in Iran, has called on his followers to "join the popular revolt" against the Shah, his entourage reported.

In a message addressed to those of his compatriots Thursday, Khomeini accused the U.S., Britain and unnamed other countries of "plundering the riches of Iran."

U.S. envoy in Somalia for arms talks

MOGADISHU, Oct. 20 (AP) — A top American envoy flew into Somalia Friday and announced that he will hold talks with the government on the possibility of American arms being supplied to this East African nation to preserve its security.

William Harrop, deputy assistant secretary of state for Africa, said so far "no final decision" has been taken.

The Somalis appealed to the U.S. for arms last year after its Soviet allies switched their allegiance in the region to neighboring Ethiopia — Somalia's traditional enemy.

Harrop together with Rear Admiral Samuel Packer, commander of American Naval Forces in the Middle East, will also attend celebrations here Saturday marking the ninth anniversary of the military coup which overthrew civilian rule in Somalia.

Begin to visit Canada Nov. 6

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel will make an official visit to Canada Nov. 6-12, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has said.

In Tel Aviv, a spokesman for Begin said the Israeli leader also would visit the U.S. in November. His itinerary for the U.S. visit has not been announced.

•TEL AVIV — An explosion damaged an empty bus early Friday in Khan Yunis in the occupied Gaza Strip, but there were no injuries, Israeli radio reported. Military sources said the bus was parked overnight when the bomb exploded. Israeli security forces were investigating the incident.

nization. from Baghdad to Paris, where the government of President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing asked him to refrain from all political activity while enjoying French political asylum. There was no immediate comment from French officials on the message to his followers.

His entourage said earlier he had refused "as a matter of principle" to meet with any emissary from the Shah. Reports from Tehran said the Shah had asked his ambassador in Tehran Ardechir Zahedi, to travel to Paris to confer with Khomeini in hopes of ending the unrest in Iran.

Late Wednesday, Khomeini left his closely guarded suburban residence for the first time since his arrival on Oct. 6 for what sources said was an X-ray examination in a nearby hospital. His entourage said it was "merely a checkup," but added that he was very fatigued.

Meanwhile in Tehran, parliament member Mohsen Peyeshk-pour and former Prime Minister Ali Amiri have called for the release of all political prisoners in Iran.

They also said Iranian students and dissidents involved in anti-state activities abroad should return home.

But thousands of Iranian students now living in America and Europe fear they will be punished by Iran's secret police if they come back, observers say. An amnesty announced by Prime Minister Jafar Shari'Emami has apparently not dissipated those fears.

Kosygin confers with Turkish deputy premier

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (R) — Soviet Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin had informal talks Thursday with Turkey's Deputy Prime Minister Hikmet Cetin on the further development of relations, the official Tass news agency reported.

"Both sides manifested the striving for strengthening and widening relations... between the two countries and implementing arrangements achieved earlier," it said.

Following Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit's Moscow visit last June the Soviet Union and Turkey signed an agreement on friendly relations which included a non-aggression pledge covering military actions on their soil and a pledge on economic cooperation.

College dean murdered in Turkey

ISTANBUL, Oct. 20 (Agencies) — Gunmen killed a college dean here Friday in a shooting linked to Turkey's bloody political feuding.

Police said Bedri Karafakioglu, 63, dean of the Electrical Engineering School of Istanbul Technical University, was ambushed when he left his home on the way to work. Three gunmen, firing from a car, riddled the professor's body with bullets, police reported.

The assailants got away after the shooting but an extensive manhunt was started in the area. Political terrorists were suspected.

Karafakioglu was the third academic victim of such attacks this year. An associate professor was shot dead in his car in Ankara in July and another professor was seriously wounded in a similar attack outside his home in Istanbul in April.

In Ankara, Premier Bulent Ecevit expressed "deep sorrow" for the slaying of Karafakioglu. He said the terrorists had stepped up their activities in desperation in recent months because security forces and the courts had started dealing with them much more effectively.

More than 700 persons have been killed so far this year in Turkey's political war between leftist and rightists terrorists.

Bhutto protests to U.N. over 'inhuman' treatment

RAWALPINDI, Oct. 20 (R) — Pakistan's former Premier Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, has sent a cable from his death cell to U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim about conditions of his detention, saying that the military regime intended him to "wither away," sources in his Pakistan People's Party have said.

But the sources said Bhutto, 50, believed his jailers had held up the letter to Kurt Waldheim, which he sent one month ago.

There was no immediate comment from Rawalpindi's central prison, where Bhutto is under sentence of death on charges of ordering a political assassination.

Details of the telegram were given in a letter written by Bhutto to the jail's superintendent and released by the party sources.

Bhutto is appealing to the supreme court against the death sentence. In his cable he accused the authorities of depriving him of proper medical 8 newspapers suspend publication to protest press curbs in Pakistan

KARACHI, Oct. 20 (AP) — The editors and publishers of six dailies and two weekly newspapers have suspended publication of their journals for three days beginning Thursday, protesting the government's orders for imposing censorship effective Tuesday night.

In a joint statement to the press, the editors of these affected newspapers have appealed to the government "to withdraw pre-censorship orders," or they might have to continue suspension of their respective publications indefinitely.

The eight papers are generally described as supporting former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto.

The editors have asked the Pakistani Editors' Council and other journalistic organization of the country to force the government to rescind their orders immediately.

Bhutto, who claimed he had lost 40 lb. (20 kilos) in weight since his arrest, said that two government-appointed dentists had ruled he needed treatment in hospital for swollen and bleeding gums but that nothing had been done.

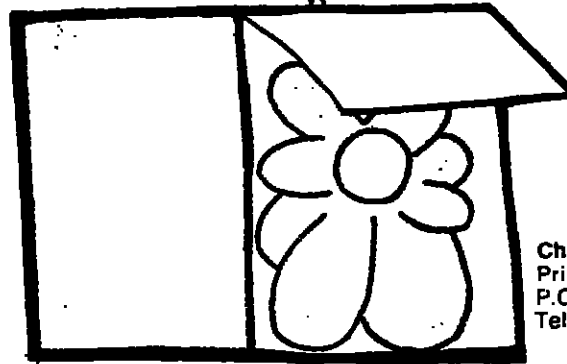

"In the meantime, the condition of my teeth and general health is deteriorating further," the letter said.

'Post' publisher plans new Manhattan daily

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — With New York's two long-standing newspapers shut down by strikes, plans for a new morning daily were unveiled Thursday by "New York Post" publisher Rupert Murdoch, who owns newspapers and periodicals on three continents.

The new morning tabloid, the "Daily Sun," was expected to appear within a matter of days, "Telegraph" back after $3-million 'nightmare' strike

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP) — The "Daily Telegraph" was on sale again Friday for the first time in two weeks.

In a message "to the readers of the 'Daily Telegraph' who are still with us," Lord Hartwell, chairman and editor-in-chief, referred to "this nightmare fortnight."

He said: "It has been the longest stoppage ever of any national newspaper, except the closing of the whole London press for four weeks in 1955."

The stoppage cost the "Daily Telegraph" 100,000 pounds (about $200,000) where this time we have lost 1.5 million pounds (about $3 million) and 13,650,000 copies."

Publication resumed after eight hours of talks that settled the dispute, which originated with a claim — rejected by management — by 24 members of the National Graphical Association for more money to operate wirephoto machinery.

The settlement provides for resumption of full normal working and fresh discussions on a new comprehensive agreement for the wire room staff.

Murdoch said. But the exact date remained undecided pending completion of talks with labor unions and distributors.

The news of Murdoch's plan joined the publishers of the "New York Times" and the "Daily News," both of which remained closed by a strike of printers, which is now in its 11th week.

Murdoch reached agreement on a tentative basis with his pressmen and reopened his afternoon "New York Post" two weeks ago.

The "Post" basically signed a "me too" agreement. In effect, it agreed to abide by whatever terms the unions reach with the "Times" and "News."

"We will be launching the 'Daily Sun' as a new newspaper within the next few days," Murdoch said. He said the paper's editor would be Neal Travis, who has worked for the publisher in Austria, Britain and the United States.

Travis is currently a contributing editor of "New York Magazine," a Murdoch property. Negotiators for the two papers and the pressmen planned to observe operations Thursday night at two suburban competitors.

The committee hoped to eliminate questions persisting over pressroom manning despite extensive investigation into the differences in operational staffing of pressrooms at various newspapers.

The visit to the plants of the "Star-Ledger" in Newark, New Jersey, and "Newsday" on Long Island was urged by the Allied Printing Trades Council, which represents most of the 10,000 unionized workers at the "Times," "News" and "Post."

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Gig Young, who was a handsome leading man and supporting actor who won an academy award as the dance marathon pichman in "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" was found shot to death Thursday in what police called a murder-suicide.

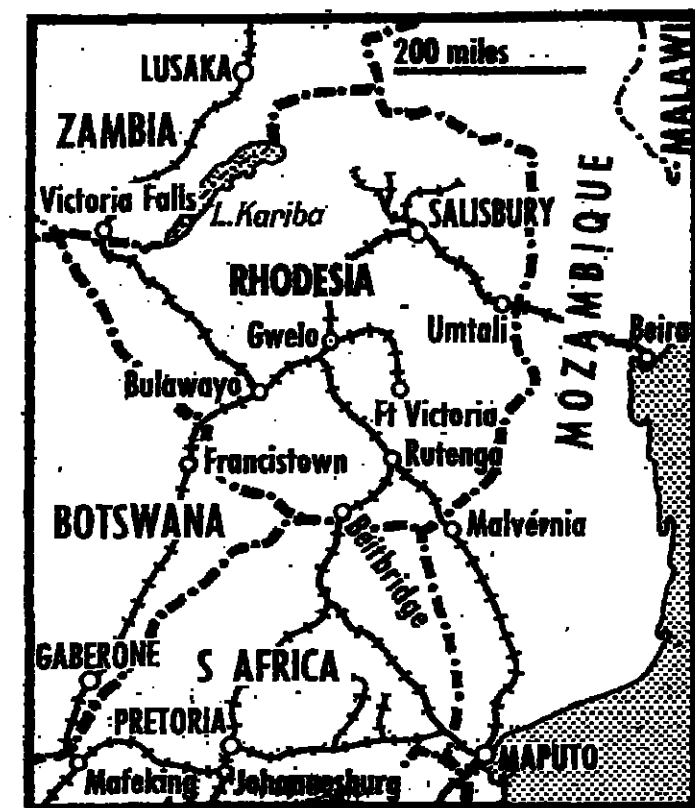

Police said the body of Young's wife of three weeks, German-born Kim Schmidt, 31, was with him in the bedroom of their 57th street apartment. The 60-year-old actor apparently killed her before shooting himself in the head. A gun was found in Young's hand, police said.

Police said the pair appeared to have died at about 2:30 p.m. Their bodies were discovered about five hours later.

Young's early life contrasted with his familiar movie roles of glamor and sophistication. He was born Byron Barr in St. Cloud, Minnesota, in 1917.

After graduating from high school, he became a used car

U.S. legislator pleads innocent of corruption

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (R) — Congressman Daniel Flood, 74, Thursday pleaded not guilty to 10 counts of conspiracy and accepting bribes.

Flood, a colorful former actor who sports a waxed handlebar mustache, was charged a week ago with accepting cash and shares in a Pennsylvania bank for allegedly influencing government agencies to award contracts and aid.

He was chairman of a house sub-committee handling funds for the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which pays out millions of dollars in grants throughout the country.

The Pennsylvania Democrat is up for re-election to his 16th consecutive congressional term, — after a career spanning 30 years — in the November congressional elections.

Rhodesia air strike takes war 12 miles from Zambian capital

LUSAKA, Oct. 20 (R) — Zambian leaders and Rhodesian nationalist guerrillas Friday counted the cost of a Rhodesian deepest air strike ever on a nationalist camp only 12 miles from Lusaka.

The raid, which seemed certain to have wide-ranging repercussions, brought the brutality of Rhodesia's six-year old guerrilla war to the Zambian capital.

Rhodesia's raid came at an embarrassing time for Dr. Kaunda. Two weeks ago he reopened trade routes through Rhodesia to end a five-year economic blockade.

Zambia's semi-official press has already voiced some of the frustrations of the people at the risks and problems brought by providing sanctuary to the guerrillas.

Thousands of Zambians saw the dead and maimed being brought into Lusaka. Reports of the death toll remained confused, with estimates varying from several dozen to over 200.

Joshua Nkomo, leader of the Zimbabwe African Peoples Union (ZAPU) denied Rhodesian claims that the camp was a nerve-center for his 10,000-strong Soviet equipped guerrilla army.

He said the camp housed young men unsuitable for military service and sick Rhodesian refugees, as well as blind fugitives from the guerrilla war.

Armed guerrillas were seen near the camp after the raid. But military analysts said it was far from certain that the Rhodesian attack was a significant military setback for Nkomo.

The raid raised the possibility that Nkomo would be pressed into retreating in a spectacular way.

The Rhodesian attack also pushed Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda closer to an agonizing decision.

He has backed Anglo-American efforts but he has also argued that he would turn to the Soviet Union if the West failed to help him.

Leon Trotsky's assassin dies of cancer in Havana

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (R) — Ramon Mercader, the mysterious Spaniard who assassinated Leon Trotsky in Mexico in 1940, died Wednesday in Havana, sources close to his family said Thursday.

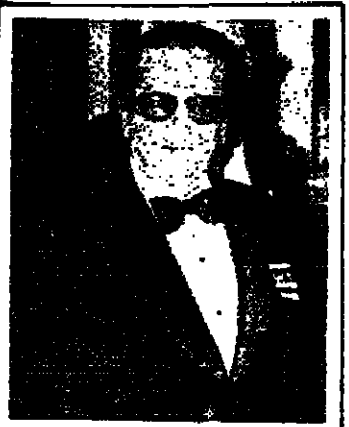

The sources said his body would be cremated in Cuba and the ashes flown to the Soviet Union on Sunday, apparently for burial in a place of honor in Moscow.

Earlier this month Mercader went to Havana early in 1977 for treatment for cancer. Mercader, who during the late 1930s used the pseudonyms Jacques Mornard and Frank Jacson, insisted through hundreds of hours of questioning after Trotsky's murder that his motives for killing the former Soviet leader were only personal.

But most writers on the assassination outside the Soviet Union expressed the conviction that he acted on behalf of Josef Stalin, Trotsky's arch-enemy, after being recruited into Soviet intelligence during the Spanish Civil War.

Trotsky, one of the main leaders of the October, 1917, Bolshevik Revolution in Russia and subsequently Soviet foreign minister and Red Army chief, was murdered in his house in Coyoacan, a southern suburb of Mexico City.

Tito names substitute to run party

BELGRADE, Oct. 20 (AP) — President Tito, the 86-year-old Communist Party leader, appointed a substitute Thursday to handle routine affairs of the party for a year.

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported the move from Igalo, an Adriatic coast resort where Tito is staying. The agency said Tito appointed Branko Mikulic at an Igalo meeting of the Presidium, the executive body of the party.

Tito also has deferred handling of daily state affairs to a nine-man "collective presidency" serving a year each as vice-presidents.

D 31A-16 BULLDOZER

The Small one that does a Power of Work

Whether it be ditching for SEWAGE LANES, DRAINAGE CHANNELS, ROAD REPAIRS, PAVEMENT REMOVAL, FILLING OR SPREADING, AGRICULTURAL USE, HOISTING, SCARIFYING, DEMOLITION OR HANDLING PIPE.

WHATEVER THE APPLICATION THE D31A-16 out classes all others of its class, equipped with KOMATSU diesel engine, delivering 83 flywheel horse power, coupled with hydroshift. Komatsu's hydroshift is a unique power transmission system which combines both easy speed-shifting of Torq flow (Power shift) and the high out put efficiency of direct drive transmission, while reducing fuel consumption of the machine.

Komatsu's Unique:

Inching pedal facilitates precise, safe approach to obstacles, pushing the pedal down half way to release the clutch for dynamic dozing operation.

Something Extra Special:

Besides the special features above the Komatsu D31A-16 is equipped with an inside mounted power angle tilt dozer for the improved dozing performance. The power angle tilt dozer enables an operator in seat to raise, lower, angle or tilt the blade very easily, resulting in high working efficiency.

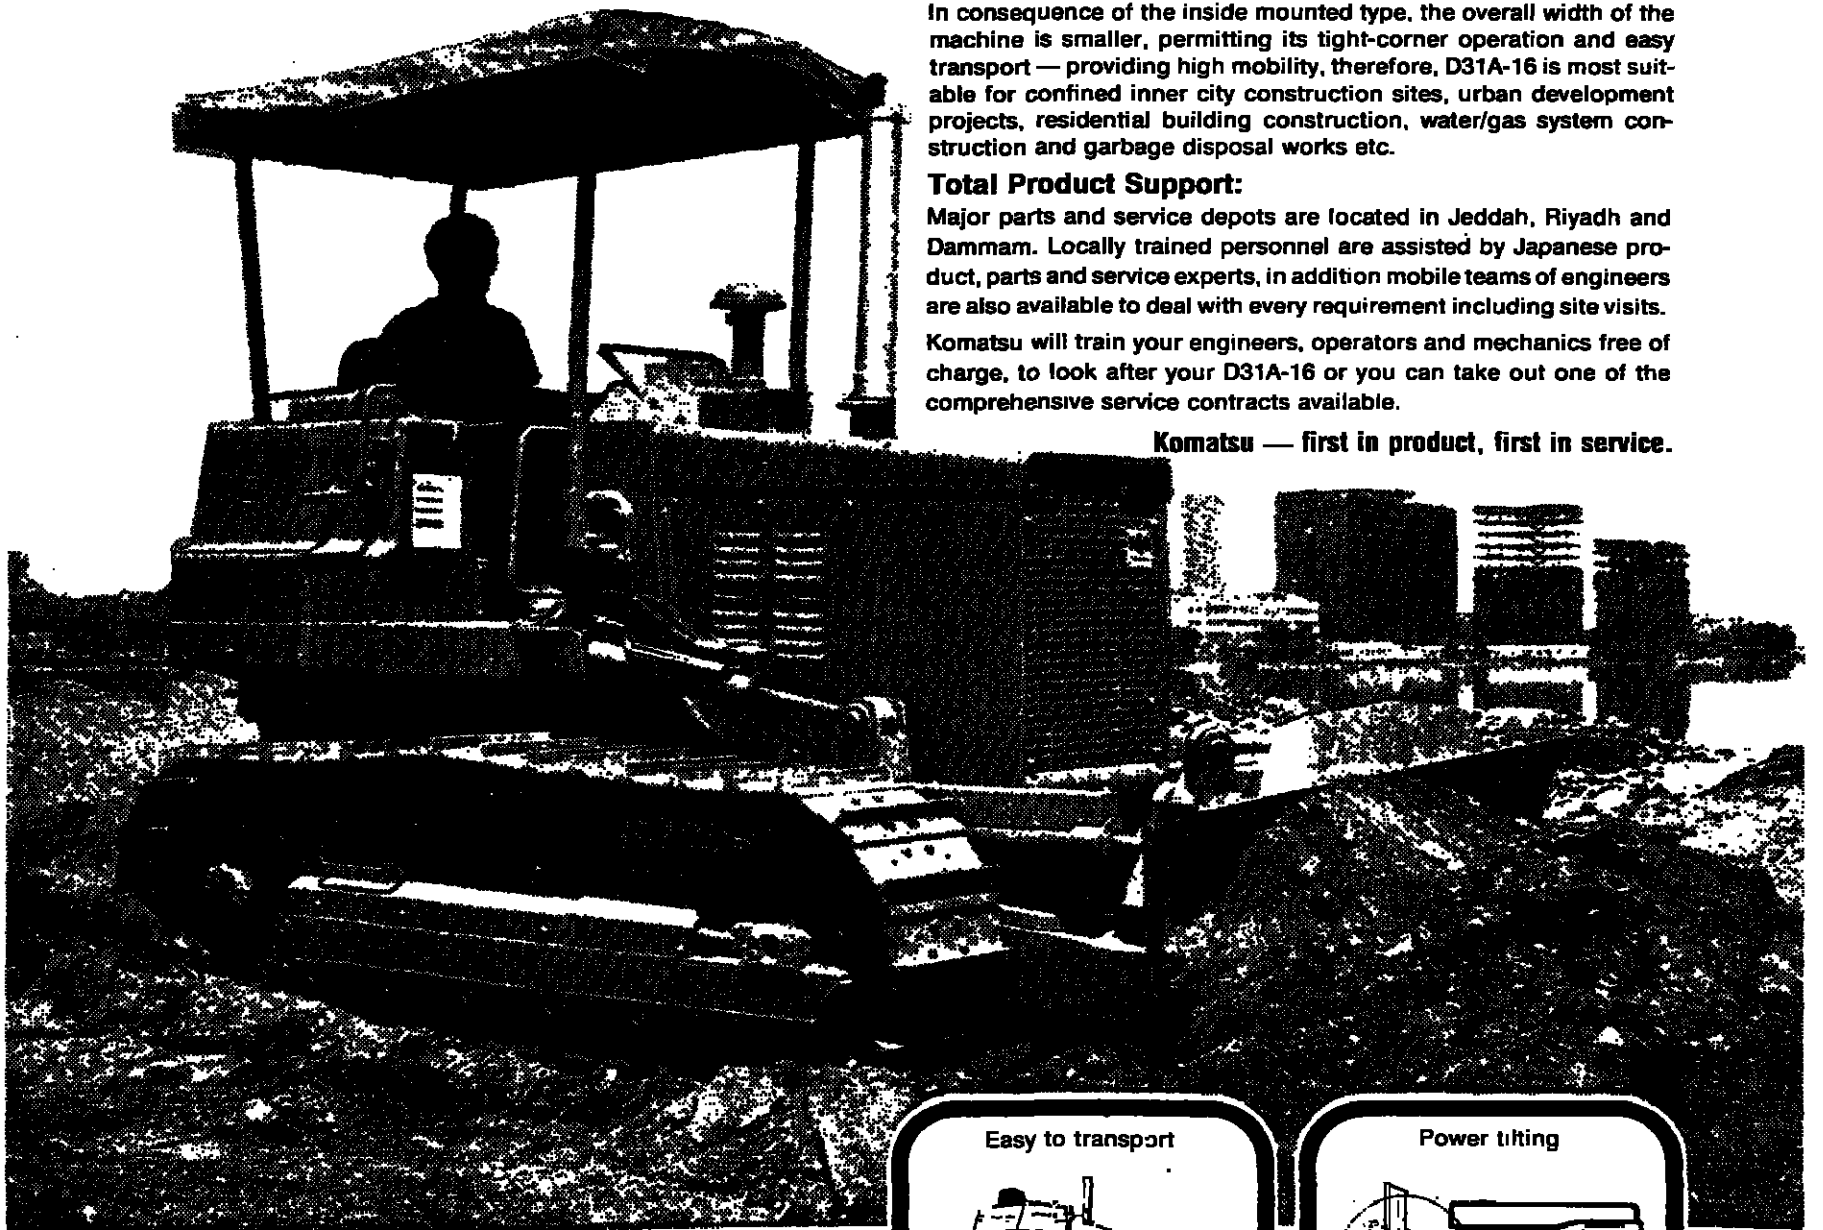

Accessibility to the tight approaches:

In consequence of the inside mounted type, the overall width of the machine is smaller, permitting its tight-corner operation and easy transport — providing high mobility, therefore, D31A-16 is most suitable for confined inner city construction sites, urban development projects, residential building construction, water/gas system construction and garbage disposal works etc.

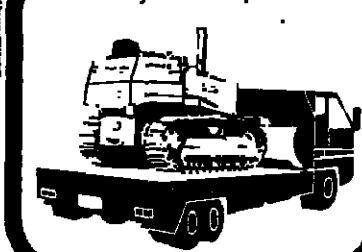

Total Product Support:

Major parts and service depots are located in Jeddah, Riyadh and Dammam. Locally trained personnel are assisted by Japanese product, parts and service experts, in addition mobile teams of engineers are also available to deal with every requirement including site visits. Now that Somalia is no longer in a state of war and has no intention of being embroiled in another conflict, the president can afford to attend to local political and social reforms. He has already liberalized the economy by permitting a greater measure of freedom to merchants and land owners without fear of nationalization or confiscation. A small building boom is noticeable in the major cities. Together, with economic liberalization, a certain measure of political liberalization, complete the picture.

"It is now an established fact that the billing department disconnects telephone services at the end of three-month periods so that the subscriber may go to the department, pay his bill and ensure that the service is restored." But the writer said that "despite prompt payment, his lines are constantly being disconnected for no valid reason, and only complaints to the director personally result in reconnection." He called upon the telephone director to start an inquiry.

The dreams of Haviv Schieber, defector from Zionism

By Bob Lebling
Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Haviv Schieber, chairman of the U.S.A. Holy Land State Committee, dreams of the dismantling of Zionism and the creation of a "fully demilitarized Holy Land State" in Palestine.

The state would be neutral in its foreign policy. Muslims, Christians and Jews would live together in peace and harmony. Jerusalem would become an international city. All Palestinians in exile would be invited to return home, and receive full compensation for the losses they have suffered over the years.

An impossible dream? Schieber doesn't think so. In fact, after devoting more than 20 years to the lonely pursuit of his goal, he is more convinced than ever that he is on the right track. The changes brought about in the United States and Israel as a result of the Camp David summit give him hope that the "Holy Land State" concept may eventually be realized.

Who is Haviv Schieber? A Polish Jew, he was weaned like his former colleague Menachem Begin on the doctrine of the Zionist leader Zev Jabotinski. An immigrant to Palestine in the 1930s, Schieber joined forces with the underground terrorists of Begin's Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Builder of Israel
In his own words: "I am one of the builders of Israel. I gave the Irgun all keys for the establishment of the Jewish state."

Thanks to his "contacts and activities," the Irgun was able to take the Arab city of Jaffa one month before the end of the British mandate.

"This prevented the Egyptians from landing in Jaffa on May 15, 1948," he said in an interview. "Had they landed in Jaffa, we would have lost."

That was 30 years ago. Today Schieber lives in the United States, and is considered persona non grata in Israel. He refuses to return to the state he helped to create.

"My brother is there, my sister is there, my two grandchildren are there," he said. "I haven't seen them in 21 years. But if you would give me a ticket now to go there to see them, I would refuse."

Schieber insists he will never return until "there is a united people of Jews, Christians and Muslims under one umbrella, the Holy Land State."

Sour dream
For Schieber, the Zionist dream turned sour when he came to the realization that Israel was serving the purposes of the Soviet Union in the Middle East. Admittedly not many people share his view on this, at least not in the United States, but Schieber has marshalled a great deal of persuasive evidence to prove his case.

Schieber says he is a lifelong anti-Communist. His intense opposition to Marxism caused him many problems in the early days of Israel's existence, when the Socialists of Ben Gurion and Golda Meir waged a successful battle against the free-enterprise forces of Begin and others for the reins of leadership in the Jewish state.

During this period three occurrences or "shocks" as he calls them — led Schieber to make an about-face and abandon Zionism in favor of the Holy Land State.

The first shock came when the Israel army — formed of the units of the Haghanah, described by Schieber as the "leftist terrorist underground" — blew up the Atlitena, a ship carrying men and ammunition for Begin's Irgun. Some 50 men were killed and hundreds wounded in the incident.

Schieber calls the ship's destruction an "act of betrayal by Begin's partners of today, the Lajans and Ben Gurions."

"As dedicated Marxists," he said, "they were afraid that Mr. Begin, with his major achievement of kicking out the British, would take power. So like Tito in Yugoslavia, killing Mirko Djuric and the other patriots, like in Russia they killed the other Russian patriots, so the Jewish Communists did the same with the Jewish anti-Communists."

Arab treatment
The second shock involved the Israelis' treatment of the Arabs.

After the Irgun's capture of Jaffa, only about 8,000 Arabs remained in the city; some 90 per cent of the city's population had been forced to flee in the takeover. Those Arabs who stayed behind were "put in a ghetto, with barbed wire," Schieber said.

"When I was in the (army's) engineering corps," he said, "one day they gave me two truckloads of civilian Arabs, so-called prisoners of war.... poor guys, tellahin, who had nothing to do with politics."

The Arabs had been brought to him from concentration camps in Herzliya. Their job — under Schieber's supervision — was to load the trucks with stones obtained by tearing down the courtyard walls of houses in downtown Jaffa.

"We went to Jaffa, and the poor guys, many of them were from Jaffa," Schieber said. "Just yesterday they were in their own city. After we loaded these stones in the trucks, they asked me, 'Could we see our families?'"

"So I, innocently, not thinking much, understood that this was a very normal, reasonable request."

Schieber told the driver of one of the trucks to take them to the "ghetto door in Jaba-liya."

"He refused," Schieber said, "a very good devoted Ben Gurion charlatan. So I quarreled with him and I forced him, and we went, and the poor guys immediately saw their families."

Schieber said he "paid for this little humanitarian step. They sent me to Beersheba."

The third shock was the proclamation by Ben Gurion and Golda Meir of "fulfillment of Socialism next year in Jerusalem."

"I am a born anti-Communist," Schieber said, "and I fought with them all the time, not like Mr. Begin, but I always won. So I immediately organized the Anti-Communist League of Israel, and I organized the Democratic Party."

Schieber set up his headquarters in Jaffa.

"When we started to organize ourselves there, I noticed that the Jews which we had settled in Jaffa, after a few weeks they disappeared. They vanished from the houses, from the city we had conquered from the Arabs."

"So I began to do a little research into what had happened to them. And I discovered that they had returned to Germany! And then they started to send letters that said: 'Come back! The Jewish state is in Germany, not in Jaffa!'"

"This shocked me. We kicked out the poor Arabs, they are in refugee camps, and we poured in Jews from the DP camps of Europe, and now they were running away back there! This started to change my whole orientation."

Peace plan
As early as 1952, Schieber presented a peace plan to the leadership of Israel's Labor Party calling for the return of all Palestinian refugees and the restoration of their lands, houses, money and property. "Who took their land? Only the Communist Jews. The kibbutzim," he said.

Needless to say, Schieber's proposals fell on deaf ears. Despite the fact that during his political career in Israel he held such posts as general secretary of the National Labor Organization in Haifa —

"the most Red spot in Palestine" — and first Israeli mayor of the Negev's largest town, Beersheba, Schieber was never able to come to terms with the country's Socialist orientation. He gave up on the Jewish state in the late 1950s and emigrated to the United States.

Since then he has been trying to spread his message, first to his own people, the Jews, and now, in the wake of Camp David, to the Arabs.

His central theme: "The tragedy is not the quarrel between the Arabs, Palestinians and Israel. The tragedy is that Israel has become a plaything in the hands of Soviet Russia."

In this sense, Camp David, he said, was a triumph, because it has pointed the way towards a Middle East peace that would neutralize Soviet influence in the area.

Two peoples have the most to gain from a settlement based on the Camp David accords, he said — Americans and Arabs.

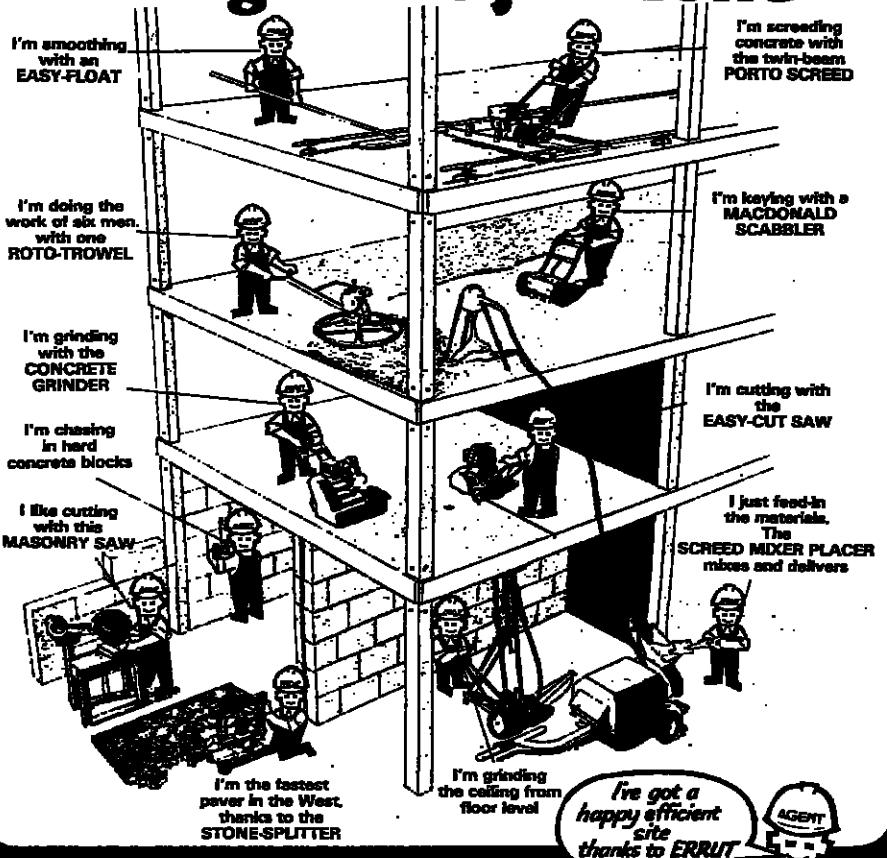

"It is up to the Jews to understand their situation in the Middle East," Schieber said, "and fulfill not only the paragraphs written (in the accords) but the paragraphs not written and since denied by Mr. Begin: i.e., the internationalization of Jerusalem and full partnership with (PLO leader Yasser) Arafat and all the Palestinian representatives."

The Camp David summit, he said, "brought about something most people would like to keep hidden. The most important issue was solved and finished. We saw an end to the colonial grip of the Israeli Zionist un-registered agents over the United States, public opinion, officialdom and even the streets."

Camp David
He went on: "Everybody now understands that Carter took Begin to the gutters. He signed documents he can never deny. He is blab-blahing now like a cheap, cheap grocer, like (Austrian Chancellor Bruno) Kreisky said. He is saying it for his kids."

for the few idiots in Gush Emunim."

Jewish opinion in the United States has changed dramatically, he said. "Nobody came to see Begin when he arrived in New York. Only a few kids, waving their flags. No Javits. No member of Congress."

Schieber, who once counted Begin as a friend and ally, said: "The more Begin makes a fool of himself, showing himself to be a politician rather than a statesman, the more he is separating American Jews from Israel."

Schieber said it is healthy that there is a formal Arab opposition to the Camp David accords.

"I'm in favor of a cultured, civilized opposition, as there was in the United States during the Panama Canal debate," he said. "But it is important that this opposition should not bring any bloodshed or any physical violence between and among Arabs."

But in addition to the "official" opposition to Sadat, Schieber believes the PLO, Syria and other "Steadfastness Front" countries "should organize an opposition against the most important issue — stop Russian Jews from going to Israel."

Soviet Jews

This question is perhaps more troubling to Schieber than any other. He is convinced the Soviet Union is allowing Jewish emigration to Israel for reasons of its own national interest, in an effort to gain a major foothold in the Eastern Mediterranean.

"A friend of mine, a Soviet Jew, once asked a Russian commissar why the Kremlin was allowing Jews to emigrate to Israel," he said. "The commissar told him: 'Do you think we would do this if it were not in our own best interests?'"

Schieber went on: "Why are the Arabs who are on good terms with Russia quiet on this issue? Without Russian Jews, there will not be settlements. Without Russian Jews, there will be more secured human rights for all, especially for the Arabs."

"But when Russia is pouring in every month 1,500 or 2,000 so-called Jews, this is an occupation army, this is a preparation for a Russian takeover of all the Middle East."

While he stressed that he does not want to interfere "in inter-Arab matters, or the internal affairs of the PLO, this question, the emigration of Soviet Jews to Israel, should be the issue of the so-called Rejection Front."

Schieber believes there is much more the Arabs could be doing to frustrate Israeli objectives in the Middle East.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "the Arabs don't need a single rifle to overcome Israel."

How?

"Simple. The Arabs in the West Bank and Gaza should go on strike, and stop all manual work in Israel. Secondly, they should produce children day night, overwhelming Israel with their numbers. And third, the Palestinians in exile should stage a 'march of the refugees' to the borders of Israel, from all over the world."

"Let them march, and let them see, after what Carter and Sadat have prepared, whether a single Israeli soldier will stick out the rifle to stop the women and children who would make up the first line of the refugees. This should be the project of the PLO."

On the question of a possible separate peace between

Egypt and Israel, Schieber was philosophical: "Anything regained without bloodshed is a blessing."

He was full of praise for President Sadat.

Bankrupt Zion

"Sadat succeeded in demonstrating the bankruptcy of all Zionism," he said. "He succeeded in making Begin a traitor to himself!"

Begin's dreams, which Schieber once shared, were not focused on the West Bank alone, he said.

"We wanted Jordan as well. Our (the Herut Party's) most beloved song was 'Transjordan. Transjordan is ours'."

Now the Nile-to-the-Euphrates concept has disappeared even from the map of Herut, which was my baby. Begin has now given in on the West Bank. Autonomy? This is like being a little pregnant. Autonomy is the way to a Palestinian state."

Yes, Schieber is an optimist. But his enthusiasm is infectious. Listening to him speak, one can almost visualize the day when, in the words of his "father" Jabotinski, "a Muslim, a Christian, and my son, a Jew, will live in prosperity and happiness."

Schieber and Mufti Hajj Al-Husseini

Former foes agree on Palestine

Schieber addresses the World-Anti-Communist League in 1959

From Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—Two former political foes—one an Arab and one a Jew—have now come to the same conclusion about the solution to the Arab Israeli dispute.

Jassa Nakhlleh, U.S. representative of the late Mufti Hajj Amin Al-Husseini's Arab Higher Committee for Palestine, and Haviv Schieber, former Begin man and ideological son of the Zionist leader Zev Jabotinski, both agree that the way to solve the Palestine problem is to create a demilitarized "Holy Land State."

Nakhlleh, who heads the Palestine Arab delegation to the Higher Committee, presented his proposals for a solution to the dispute to President Carter last January. His formula is strikingly similar to that advocated by Schieber, founder of the USA Holy Land Committee.

In his memorandum to Carter, Nakhlleh proposed that Palestine "be united as a democratic state for the Palestinian Jews and Palestinian Arabs and should be named 'The Holy Land State'."

Under his proposal, the Palestinians in exile would be invited to return home, and they would join the residents of the area "in forming such a democratic state under the guidance of the United Nations. Like Schieber's proposal, Nakhlleh's formula calls for the "complete dismantling" of the Holy Land State, "except for a local police force for a curfew."

Nakhlleh says the new state's constitution should guarantee freedom of religion as non-discrimination, and the country "should be open to the pilgrimage of Christians, Muslims and Jews throughout the world."

Schieber and Nakhlleh whose groups violently opposed each other during the 1940s, formulated their proposals independently of each other. But both men have since met and exchanged ideas.

After meeting with Nakhlleh, Schieber feels that the next step must be the creation of a Holy Land Party in Israel and indeed throughout the Middle East.

If Palestinian Arabs as Jews joined forces in such a party, the momentum would sweep the Middle East, Schieber believes.

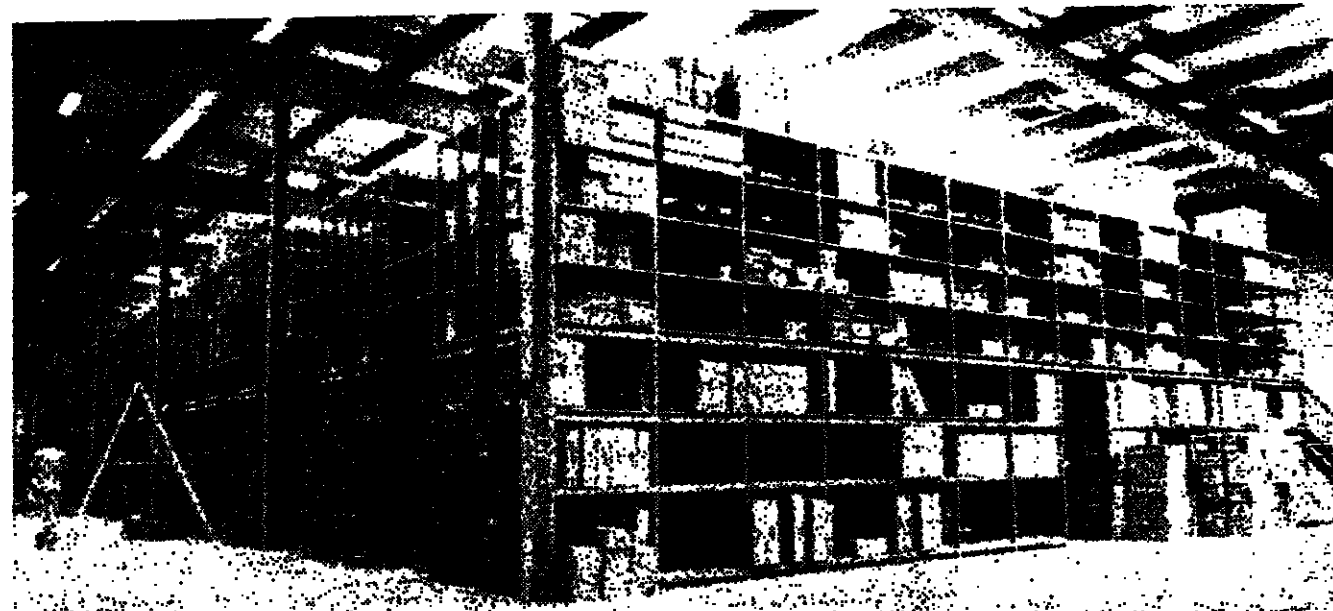

Eventually, with this kind of grassroots movement, the pressure of Arab and Jewish public opinion would lead inevitably, he feels, to the realization of his and Nakhlleh's dream.

As Korchnoi accepts defeat

Fischer said preparing chess comeback

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 20 (AP) — A Yugoslav chess official said Thursday chances are good that Bobby Fischer, the American Grandmaster and former world champion, will stage a comeback soon.

Milos Milovanovic, president of the Serbian Chess Federation, said that after six years in retirement, Fischer came to Yugoslavia Monday to discuss his chess comeback.

He said Fischer decided to come following several months of discussions with Yugoslav Grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric, a personal friend. Fischer was shown Belgrade's new Sava conference center as a possible site for either a match with Gligoric or a tournament.

Fischer became world chess champion in 1972 by defeating Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union. In 1975 he refused to defend the title because of a dispute with the federation, and Anatoly Karpov of the Soviet Union became world champion by default — a title he retained this week.

Karpov's challenger Viktor Korchnoi Friday night apparently dropped his efforts (through the Swiss Chess Federation) to reopen the match.

He designated his chief second, to pick up his two-fifths share of the $550,000 prize money at Saturday's closing ceremonies.

High-scoring Test gallops toward draw

FAISALABAD, Oct. 20 (R) — Pakistan led India by 75 runs with all their second innings wickets intact as the first Test moved inexorably toward a draw on the fourth day here Friday.

At the close of play Pakistan, 41 runs ahead on the first innings, were 34 for no wicket in their second innings. India declared their opening innings closed at 462 for nine, compared with Pakistan's 303 for eight declared.

India's hero Friday was little Gundappa Viswanath, who became the first Indian cricketer to score a Test hundred against all the major cricketing nations. From 78 not out at the start Friday, he reached his century in only 35 more minutes.

He was finally out of 145 just before lunch when he tried to sweep Mushtaq Mohammad and was bowled. His innings included 16 fours and lasted 365 minutes. Dilip Vengsarkar battled with plenty of patience until he was out shortly after tea for a defiant 83.

Despite last-minute comeback

Jazz beats Boston Celtics, 120-115

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Leonard "Truck" Robinson say's two factors will improve his free throw shooting—more rest and less thinking.

Robinson sank 13 of 15 free throws, scored 37 points and grabbed 18 rebounds Thursday night, leading the New Orleans Jazz to a 120-115 victory over the Boston Celtics.

In the only other game on the National Basketball association's schedule, the Kansas city Kings beat the Houston Rockets, 108-100.

Last season Robinson led the association in rebounding and minutes played; but his free throw percentage was a mediocre .640.

"Last year I couldn't make some of the moves I wanted to make because I felt I couldn't make the free throws if I got fouled," he said. "After a while, some guys started fouling me on purpose, because they felt like I couldn't hurt them at the line."

Robinson said that although he played 46 minutes against Boston, a brief one-minute spell on the bench in the fourth quarter was all the rest he needed. "I think I was jumping higher in the last three minutes than I was the whole game," he said.

Four of Robinson's rebounds came in the final three minutes as the Jazz held off a Boston comeback that sliced a 7-point deficit to 5 at the start of the final period.

In 1977-78 Robinson averaged 44.4 minutes per game, a heavy load over the course of an 82-game schedule. He feels that hurt his free throw shooting and hopes for more rest this year.

Karamanlis opens EEC drive

THESS, Oct. 20 (R) — Premier Constantine Karamanlis leaves Saturday for talks in three European capitals on Greece's bid to join the European Economic Community.

Karamanlis will first visit Rome, then Paris on Oct. 23 and finally Dublin on Oct. 24, having talks with government leaders in all three.

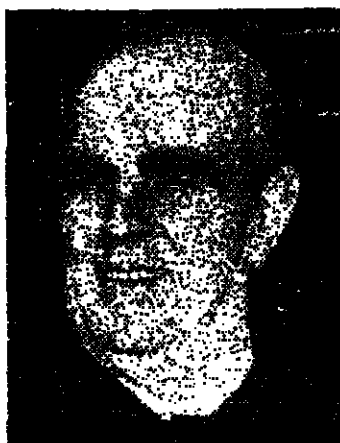

Greece, at present an associate member of the EEC, has applied to become a full member in 1980, and this has been agreed to in principle by the nine.

Negotiations between Athens and Brussels are entering a crucial phase, and are now concentrating on the agricultural sector — particularly French and Italian fears of more competition for their farmers — and the length of the transitional period Athens will have after joining.

Greece wants the period to be five years, but other members would prefer a term of seven or eight years to allow the newcomer more time to adjust.

These difficulties have been discussed at ministerial and expert level, and Karamanlis is now expected to tackle them at prime ministerial level.

Canada
postal strikers warned

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (AP) — The government will give illegally striking postal workers a final opportunity voluntarily to obey a back-to-back law, Postmaster-General Gilles Lamontagne said Friday.

Justice Minister Otto Lang said the government will like to take steps to end the illegal strike Friday or Saturday. The Justice Department was considering "a whole range of remedies", including court injunctions.

As the back-to-work-order took effect at midnight Thursday, members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers in major centers said they would follow union President Jean-Claude Parrot's call for defiance of the law.

Chinese exports said up 44% over first half

TOKYO, Oct. 20 (AP) — China, which in recent months has been flooding Europe and Asia with trade and technical delegations, totaled $9.15 billion in trade for the first half of 1978, up 44 per cent from last year, and had a $142 million surplus, a Japanese trade organization reported Friday.

The Japan External Trade Organization said China's imports and exports will continue to be brisk in the last half of the year and should hit a record $20 billion for the year.

Since China publishes no trade statistics, the organization studied custom clearance figures of 31 trading partners who handle 64 per cent of China's exports and 75 per cent of its imports, and estimated the total figures from China's trade patterns in the past years.

The report said Chinese exports rose 25.7 per cent to $4.64 billion in the first six months of the year while its imports soared

Swiss aide warns market not to bet on franc rising

BERNE, Oct. 20 (R) — Switzerland's top government banker has warned currency speculators they would be losers if they gambled on forcing up still further the foreign exchange value of the Swiss franc over the opposition of the Bernese authorities.

National Bank President Fritz Leutwiler Thursday told a press conference that the bank would resist any attempt by the foreign exchange market to test the durability of its resolve, announced earlier this month, to act vigorously to reduce "the clearly overvalued franc exchange rate."

The bank has put this policy into practice by making massive purchases of United States dollars and other currencies on the foreign exchange market. Its aim was to reverse the soaring franc of change rate which Swiss officials say has put export companies in danger and discouraged foreign tourists.

Leutwiler said the bank had survived this first test and would survive any other. There was no upper limit to the amount of foreign currency it would purchase in the market to curb the value of the franc.

A major aim of the bank policy, which included moves to promote Swiss franc loans to foreign borrowers and to reduce interest rates, was to raise the foreign exchange value of the West German mark well above 80 Swiss centimes.

West Germany is Switzerland's main trading partner and chief competitor on several important foreign markets. Cheapening of the mark against the Swiss currency has given West German traders a competitive advantage.

The Japanese side will invest 9.47 billion yen ($52 million) in the first five years, starting next April. This will account for about 80 per cent of development cost in the period.

The remaining 20 per cent will be put up by the Canadian side, the federation said.

Commercial production under the project is expected in 1990.

Carter signs U.S. shipping protection bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — President Carter has signed a bill designed to curb what U.S. shipping interests call cutthroat competition by vessels owned by the Soviet Union.

Taiwan dollar to float

TAIPEI, Oct. 20 (R) — The new Taiwan dollar will be allowed to float in a few weeks and exporters will be encouraged to hold on to the foreign exchange they earn, Central Bank Governor Yu Kuo-yun said Friday.

He told Reuters that the dollar, now fixed at 36 to the U.S. dollar, would be floated as soon as parliament approved revisions to foreign exchange control regulations — by November at the latest.

The bank would intervene to curb violent fluctuations in

The new law provides that the Federal Maritime Commission may suspend rates charged by such controlled carriers if the commission believes they are not fair and reasonable. The shipping lines affected would have 180 days to defend their rates or file others. The president could cancel the suspension or disapproval of rates if he found such action necessary because of national defense or foreign policy.

Chairman John Murphy of the House of Representatives Merchant Marine Committee called the measure "a landmark piece of legislation, intended to preserve legitimate competition."

"Since 1972 there has been an unprecedented penetration by Soviet liner fleets of the United States foreign trades. The Soviet operators have entered the U.S. trades through rate-cutting which may be 10 per cent to 50 per cent lower than the competing conference rates."

Soviet shipping lines enjoy in effect a bottomless pit because they "are not trained by demands ... that they earn profits."

"The Soviet motivation is political, military and economic ... he said. The Soviet key to performance is their compelling and persistent need for earning hard currency."

"The Soviet carrier loses money in an overall operational sense ... but so long as the net dollars received is positive, the goal of earning hard currency will be achieved."

Routine tasks prove boring, but innovative action on your part could give them more interest. Don't be limited by old and set ways.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
If you prove cooperative, you can make things a great deal easier for someone you love. Keep that temper under firm control.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Curb an attraction for someone of the opposite sex. If you are not careful, you could be creating a problem that will be difficult to solve.

LEO

Don't let others discourage you. You know exactly what you want and if you put all your energies into getting it, you will succeed.

VIRGO

Progress on all fronts today, along with a streak of good luck. An unexpected prize is marked for you. A good day to take a chance.

LIBRA

Better play it by ear, innovate as the situation demands. A pre-planned course of action just won't work to your advantage.

SCORPIO

Banish worries because they're unfounded. You tend to jump to conclusions, and this time you're all wrong. Be optimistic - you have reason for it.

SAGITTARIUS

An old love affair is remembered today - but don't let memory give it more importance than it actually held. Your future looks rosy.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
It's time to slow down and devote some time to solid planning. Curb an impulse to act without thought. A rash decision could bring you sorrow.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Self-doubt can hold you back. What you need is confidence to put your ideas and yourself, over. Never doubt that you have what it takes.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Don't let others discourage you. Your ideas are sound and they'll work if you take the time to present them carefully. Win others to your cause.

Chirau to see Mugabe

Rhodesia agrees on plan for all-party conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith said Friday that he and the three black leaders of his transitional government had agreed on a plan for an all-party conference to determine the future of the country.

Aides of the most conservative black leader in the Rhodesian transition government, Chief Jeremiah Chirau, said Friday the tribal leader plans to meet Robert Mugabe in Geneva early next week.

An official of Chirau's Zimbabwe United People's Organization, who asked not to be identified, announced the plan.

Nelson a mute recruit for S. Africa protest

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Two men protesting foreign investment in South Africa brought central London to a standstill Friday as they scaled Nelson's Column, a 170-foot-high granite monument to the hero of the Battle of Trafalgar.

After unfurling a banner protesting investment of British and foreign money in South Africa, the climbers lounged at Nelson's stone feet with curious pigeons for companions.

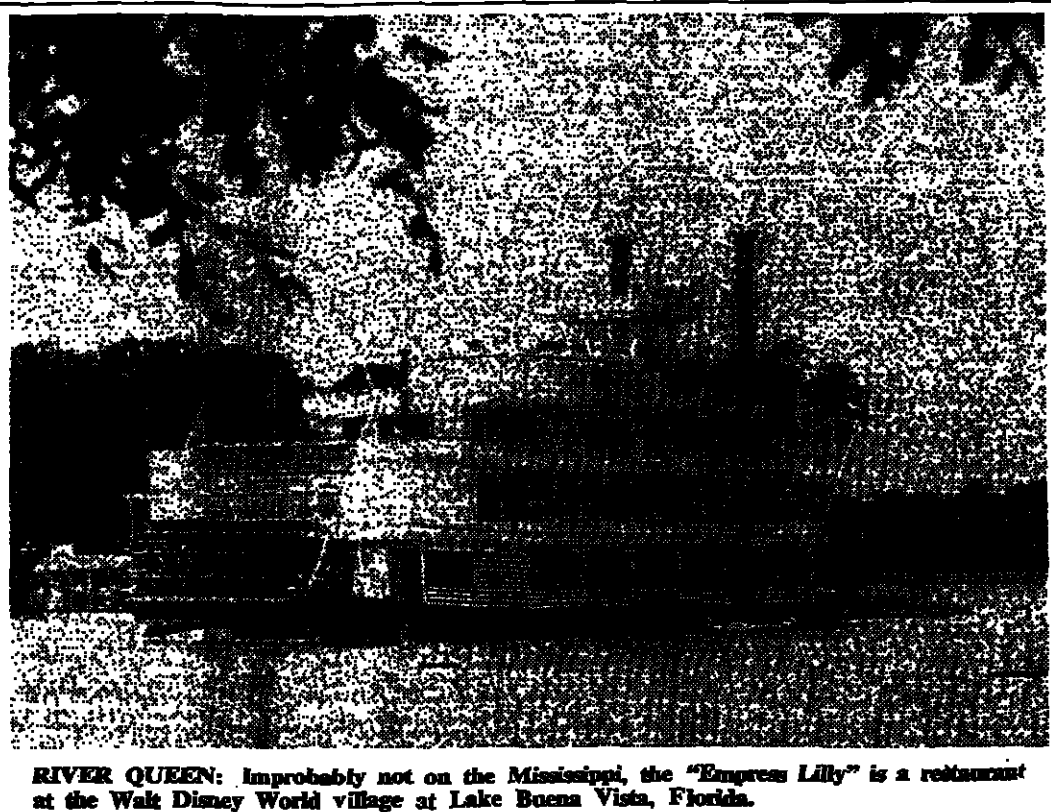

They waved to spectators who thronged Trafalgar Square to applaud, take pictures and gape at the startling sight which touched off an hour-long traffic jam.

Naif to chair pilgrimage traffic parley

MECCA, Oct. 20 (SPA) — Interior Minister Prince Naif will chair a meeting Sunday of the Pilgrimage Security Forces Command to review traffic plans for this year's pilgrimage season.

Public Security Chief Gen. Faiz Al-Awfi will brief the meeting on an inspection tour of pilgrimage sites he will undertake Saturday.

Gen. Awfi told newsmen that the entire security force had been mobilized to provide as much comfort and security as possible for the pilgrims.

OPEC surplus funds will fall to $5b by 1980, Citibank says

By Bob Lebling
Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 — OPEC's surplus revenues, which reached a high of nearly $65 billion in 1974, are expected to drop to $5 billion by 1980, even if oil prices are increased by five to 10 per cent, Citibank predicted Friday in its "Economic Week" newsletter.

The current account surplus for the 13 oil-exporting countries should total $9.5 billion both this year and in 1979, the bank said, but Japan by itself is expected to chalk up a larger surplus this year than all the OPEC countries.

The bank's economists do not expect their estimates to change even if OPEC increases oil prices by eight or 10 per cent at its next meeting in December.

Started by explosions Turkish oil line blaze out after 24-hour fight ANKARA, Oct. 20 (Agencies)—A fire at a break on the Turkish-Iraqi pipeline was extinguished Friday, the semi-official Anadolu News Agency reported.

The fire began early Thursday when two explosions burst open the pipeline at a point near the Iraqi border in south-east Turkey.

The news agency, quoting the local governor of Idu township, said the fire was put out by piling soil on the flaming oil spill.

The pipeline, in operation for the past 18 months, was jointly built by Iraq and Turkey to pump Iraqi crude from the Kerkuk oilfields to a Turkish terminal on the Mediterranean Sea.

The explosions took place 20 yards apart at a point near the Iraqi border in southeast Turkey.

The blasts marked the second time that explosions have blocked the pipeline since it was completed one and a half years ago. A previous explosion, about a year ago, did not, result in a fire.

Baykal expressed hope that the line would be back in operation within 10 days. He said the mishap was "unfortunate," because it came at a time when the facility was working at full capacity.

Four oil tankers were moored at the Yumurtalik terminal on the Mediterranean Sea, to load crude when the line broke, but the ships will be loaded from stocks in storage tanks.

The 1,000-kilometer pipeline, cost $900 million. Its capacity was boosted recently to 35 million tons a year from an initial capacity of 25 million tons.

Her companion, Irishman John McSherry, 24, was ordered to pay the same penalties. The couple had pleaded guilty in court to damaging the carpet.

In the July incident, members dashed for cover as the horse manure, shaken from plastic bags, fell around the leather benches in the Commons.

Leatlets said the manure was thrown to dramatize the demand for prisoner-of-war status by IRA prisoners in Northern Ireland's Long Kesh prison.

24-hour strike shuts down all Alitalia flights

ROME, Oct. 20 (AP) — A 24-hour nation-wide strike by flight assistants Friday forced cancellation of all domestic and international flights of Alitalia at the country's major airports.

Unions called the strike to press demands for the renewal of a new labor contract calling for higher wages.

The spokesman would not say whether the question of the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip was covered in the new American document.

The treaty language we have put forward deals with a treaty between Egypt and Israel," he said.

There was no legal linkage between the West Bank and Gaza and the framework for an Egyptian-Israeli treaty, he said. But added the question of those occupied territories remained the subject of side talks during the main treaty negotiations.

Asked whether progress had been achieved, the spokesman said:

"Progress had been achieved. Still more progress is necessary. All sides remain determined to achieve a peace treaty as quickly as possible."

Sherman said Israeli oil experts were on their way to Washington for talks beginning here early next week on the sale to Israel of Egyptian oil from the Sinai desert fields now occupied by the Israelis.

Informal sources said a team of Egyptian oil officials had already arrived here.

The spokesman said it was clear that both in terms of oil in the Sinai and in economic relations, the question of oil would have to be addressed in the treaty package.

No formal meetings between the delegations are scheduled for Saturday. It was not known whether the parties would meet on Sunday, the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, an Israeli cabinet minister said Friday there were disturbing indications that the Egyptians and Americans were veering from positions agreed at the Camp David summit.

Tuesday evening from Amman in the context of his Mideast tour.

Saudi

Saunders also met with Crown Prince Fahd during his visit.

Meanwhile in Amman, seven Palestinian leaders living in the East Bank of Jordan were Friday reported to have told Saunders that no Palestinians or other Arabs would negotiate with Israel under present conditions.

"Al-Rai" newspaper said they also told him during a meeting in Amman that such a negotiation would be like "walking in complete darkness."

"Al-Rai" said Saunders told the Palestinian leaders that the Camp David agreements were the best the Americans could get from Israel. What was needed now was Palestinian participation in the negotiations with Israel.

Asked about the possibility of making such contacts with the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), Saunders said the door was open for a dialogue between the U.S. and the PLO, if the PLO recognized the Security Council Resolution 242, the paper said.

A similar move ended in failure earlier this year when the politicians failed to agree on how they should share power in a new cabinet.
